 A bitmap copy of the original graphic. The vertical line and its upward arrow are on the left. The two diagonal lines intersect it. The upper intersection is labeled '122' and the lower intersection is labeled '321'. The text 'FIG. 102' is to the right of the vertical line.	Bitmap copy
 A screenshot of a Microsoft Word 2010 window showing the embedded graphic. The window title is 'Embedded graphic export to msword.doc [...]'. The ribbon shows 'File', 'Home', 'Insert', 'Page Layout', 'References', 'Mailings', 'Review', and 'View'. The 'Home' tab is active, showing font settings (Times New Roman, size 12) and paragraph settings. The graphic is displayed in the document area, rotated 90 degrees clockwise. The vertical line and its upward arrow are at the top. The two diagonal lines intersect it. The upper intersection is labeled '122' and the lower intersection is labeled '321'. The text 'FIG. 102' is to the right of the vertical line. The status bar at the bottom indicates 'Page: 1 of 1' and 'Words: 4'.	What Msword 2010 sees
