Row 6,000

I have a large (by my standards) spreadsheet with 23 columns and about 6000 rows (to which I add about 500 rows per year). Until recently, I could scroll the whole length of 6000 rows, and it was quite manageable. (See my two arrows).

Now (some of the time)

Row 6,000

Scroll bar

I am now experiencing a situation (some of the time) in which the scroll bar has ALL 1,048,576 rows (which I would not need in several lifetimes. The existing 6,000 rows are crammed into the top inch or so of the spreadsheet, making it much less usable.

I don't understand why it's not happening consistently. (Although maybe I should be thankful it's not all the time.)
